UC Now Communication Limited

Founded by seasoned ICT professionals, we focus on designing & developing software that harnesses the power of unified communication & collaboration technologies, to support business activities as they govirtual or hybrid. What's guiding our product strategies? Key insightsaccumulated over the years into what enterprises need to captureopportunies in today's digital world, one without geographic boundaries.

• We believe that the key to success lies in how well people interact & engage with each other, online & offline.

• We know that effective virtual engagement needs much more than video conferencing. Our event-ready templates comecomplete with scenario-based automation to make essential business processes available directly on the virtual event platform.

• We understand that events will no longer be physical or virtual only. Our professional service also includes comprehensive project management, software adaptation, live broad casting service and 7X24 technical support.
